4-H Speeches

Preparing you for your future!

Do you like to speak in front of a group? Have you ever had to make a speech in your classroom? Would you like to learn the skills and gain the confidence to be an outstanding public speaker? Then you should participate in the Kentucky 4-H Communications Program! 4-H members can learn how to prepare and present a speech on any topic they feel passionate about.

What is a speech?

A speech or talk is 3 to 5 minutes long for junior 4-H members (9-13 years old) and 5 to 7 minutes for senior 4-H members (14-18 years old). No visual aids may be used.

Preparation

The following steps will help you prepare to give a speech or demonstration.

- Choose a topic. Find a subject that you know something about or that is of interest to you. Make sure your topic is not too broad.
- Select a Title. Think of a title that relates to the subject and is catchy, original and short. It should suggest the subject without telling the whole story.
- Collect information. Think about what you already know about your topic. What examples do you know that will illustrate your speech or demonstration? Is there a poem, a song, or a joke that you can use to make a point clear? Why is the topic important?
- Organize materials. Separate your materials and ideas into three parts: introduction, body and conclusion. Use the 4-H Speech Guide at the end of this publication.
 - Introduction. Get the attention of your audience, make them want to listen, inform them of your subject and show them how the subject concerns you. Tell a story or joke, or read a quote. Tell the audience what you are going to talk about and why that topic is important to them.
 - Body. Select two or three main points and explain each point. Use accurate and up-to-date information. Arrange key points in logical order.

When using gestures, try to be natural and relaxed.

- Conclusion. Briefly restate your main ideas. Leave your audience with an attention-grabbing statement, question or wrap-up thought.
- Make note cards. Do not write your entire speech on cards. Have only the main points and key words written down. Note cards should help you organize your speech but should not be a distraction.
- Practice! Give your speech in front of a mirror and in front of friends and family.

Delivery

- Eye Contact. Look directly into the eyes of your audience during your speech. Look at people in various parts of the audience.
 - Posture. Stand in a comfortable position with your feet several inches apart and your back straight.
 - Voice. Speak loudly and clearly enough for all to hear. Try to sound conversational. Do not yell or talk too softly.
 - Gesture. When using gestures, try to be natural and relaxed.
 - Emphasis. Pause just before and after an important point. You may also change your tone of voice or step closer to the audience.
 - Quotations. Give full credit to your source and pause before and after so the audience knows where the quote begins and ends.
- Notes. Do not write your entire speech on cards. Do not read from your note cards! Refer to your cards for the main points you want to make.
 - Attire. Dress appropriately for your audience and topic. Costumes are not allowed for speeches.

Practice, Practice, Practice!

POINTERS FOR GIVING A SPEECH

Preparation for Speaking

The following basic steps are most practical in developing your speech:

1. Select a subject that interests you. If you are interested in what you are talking about, your talk will be much more effective.
2. Investigate and gather necessary materials on your topic. This will help you write your talk.
3. Organize the material into an outline with an introduction, body, and conclusion.
4. After you have prepared the outline, you can begin writing the speech. It is best to write your talk word-for-word so that you know exactly what you are going to say.
5. Be sure your talk has the following ingredients:
 - a) Introduction - this part of your talk is of great importance because it determine whether the audience decides to listen or not. Introductions have these purposes:
 - to establish contact
 - to arouse interest and
 - to state the subject
 - b) Body - this section of the talk contains the main part of your speech. Your basic message is found here, developed to fit the specific statement given in your introduction.
 - c) Conclusion - Performs two functions in your speech:
 - it summarizes and it brings your speech to a close.In preparing your conclusion, make a summary of the major points in the body of your talk, and then give an appropriate closing statement.

Delivering Your Speech

How you deliver your talk to the audience is very important. Here are a few helpful hints to remember.

1. Rate - how fast or slow you talk. Be sure that the audience can follow you, but don't go so slow that the audience will lose interest.
2. Intensity - refers to how loud or soft you speak. Your voice should be loud enough to be heard easily by everyone. At the same time, be careful not to shout. Remember the size of the room and how many people are in the room.

3. Fluency - talk smoothly. Know what you are going to say and avoid the use of "ah", "er", and "uh". The best way to do this is to practice.
4. Voice Expression - how you express your voice. You can say the words "beautiful", "Spring" and "exciting" so that they sound that way. Use your voice to give extra meaning to key words.
5. Movement - move only when it helps your talk. Do not walk around when giving your talk. This will distract the audience. A step forward or a step backward may be used effectively.
6. Gestures - how you use your hands when speaking. These gestures should be used as aids in your talk. As with movement, the gesture should be easy, have a purpose and yet be spontaneous.
7. Facial Expression - your facial expression should reflect what you are saying in your Talk. If you are talking about something happy, look happy.
8. Eye Contact - look at your audience as a whole. Do not look at the floor or ceiling.

The Speaker as a Person

The audience's opinion of you as a speaker has a great influence on whether or not they believe what you say. Some things to remember are:

1. Stand Tall - Don't slump, or stand on one foot. Stand on both feet.
2. Dress Appropriately - your dress should be in good taste and appropriate to the occasion.
3. Physical Appearance - look neat and clean before your audience. If you present a good appearance before the audience, you have won most of the battle.
